Response Teams, Coordinated

Introduction

Managing incidents in today's world has become incredibly challenging. Natural and man-made threats are more prevalent than ever. Existing solutions don't do enough to streamline the way teams coordinate and manage incidents. Until now...
Introducing Groupdolists, a mobile and web-based technology application that streamlines the way teams coordinate their responses and recoveries during expected and unexpected incidents — instantly creating a common operating picture across command centers and dispersed response teams, keeping everyone synchronized during any situation.

Features

- Digitize and activate standard and emergency operating procedures

- Assign tasks containing files, links, photos, videos and comments

- Instantly push procedures and tasks into response team's mobile devices

- See real-time completed tasks on all devices

- View-only option for leadership to follow progress (no registration required)

- Generate PDF and XLS reports for forensic analysis/audit/after-action
